Which of the phrase/ word from the options (a), (b), (c) and (d) given below each sentence should replace the phrase printed in italic letters to make the sentence grammatically correct? If the sentence is correct as it is, mark (e) i.e., “No replacement required” as the answer.

5. A truck had assumingly collide with a car.

A evidently collided

B consequently met

C virtually received

D tremendously mishap

E No replacement required

Solution

The correct answer is choice A i.e. evidently collided.

Collide means hit by accident when moving.

While looking at the sentence we can conclude that the sentence is in past perfect tense. In the past perfect, the auxiliary verb is always ‘had’ therefore, 'collided' will be used.

So, the correct phrase to be used here is “evidently collided”.

All the other given options are neither grammatically correct nor contextually meaningful.

Which of the phrase/ word from the options (a), (b), (c) and (d) given below each sentence should replace the phrase printed in italic letters to make the sentence grammatically correct? If the sentence is correct as it is, mark (e) i.e., “No replacement required” as the answer.

6. The politicians makes vague promise about tax cuts.

A has promises

B would recalled policies

C made vague promises

D should conflict promise

E No replacement required

Solution

The correct answer is choice C i.e. made vague promises.

Make is the present tense whereas made is the past tense. Made is the past participle of make.

A promise is a statement which you make to a person in which you say that you will definitely do something or give them something.

If something written or spoken is vague, it does not explain or express things clearly.

So, the correct phrase to be used here is “made vague promises”.

All the other given options are neither grammatically correct nor contextually meaningful.

Which of the phrase/ word from the options (a), (b), (c) and (d) given below each sentence should replace the phrase printed in italic letters to make the sentence grammatically correct? If the sentence is correct as it is, mark (e) i.e., “No replacement required” as the answer.

7. Students feel autonomous when they are able to willing engage time and energy to their studies.

A readily devoted

B full assign

C willingly devote

D cooperate willingly

E

None of these

Solution

The correct answer is choice C i.e. willingly devote.

Willingly means ready, eager, or prepared to do something.

Here, while looking at the sentence we can conclude that the structure of sentence is simply like “adverb plus an adjective (able) followed by the infinitive.” Therefore, willingly will be used here as an adverb.

So, the correct phrase to be used here is “willingly devote”.

All the other given options are neither grammatically correct nor contextually meaningful.
